 - the Faculty's postgraduate study programmes; and
 - the subjects and modules that must be taken per academic year for the different study programmes, with choices where applicable.

General Information

1. History and function of the Faculty of Theology

The Faculty of Theology at Stellenbosch University is an ecumenical faculty which provides academic training in Christian theology according to different confessional convictions and church traditions. The Faculty (established in 1963) developed out of the Theological Seminary of the Dutch Reformed Church (DRC), which was founded in 1859. It is an open faculty which also trains ministers and youth workers, per agreement, for the following denominations:

- Dutch Reformed Church (DRC)
- Uniting Reformed Church (URC) in Southern Africa
- Uniting Presbyterian Church in Southern Africa (UPCSA)
- Anglican Church of Southern Africa (ACSA)
- Volkskerk
- United Evangelical Lutheran Church in Southern Africa

The Faculty of Theology is one of the smallest faculties at the University. It is, however, a hospitable, energetic and creative faculty in which scientific theology is practised with integrity.

The academic programmes on offer have Christian Reformed theology as point of departure. It offers undergraduate students a wide range of options with regards to teaching and research. The Faculty's undergraduate and postgraduate programmes make provision for a broad spectrum of students from various communities, churches and countries.

4. Language at the University

Stellenbosch University (SU) is committed to engagement with knowledge in a diverse society and through the Language Policy aims to increase equitable access to SU for all students and staff. Multilingualism is promoted as an important differentiating characteristic of SU. Afrikaans, English and isiXhosa are used in academic, administrative, professional and social contexts. Pedagogically sound teaching and learning are facilitated by means of Afrikaans and English.

More information concerning language at SU is available on the website www.su.ac.za/language.

5. Qualifications offered in the Faculty of Theology

The programmes offered equip students for the ministry of various denominations. The denominations that have a training agreement with the University are members of a Church Liaison Council. The Faculty consults with this Liaison Council when determining the nature and content of the programmes.

You can obtain the following qualifications, with the minimum years of study indicated, in the Faculty of Theology:

Qualification	Abbreviation of Qualification	Minimum years of study
Bachelor of Theology <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Focus area General (Ancient languages optional) Focus area Youth Work Take note: Students graduate with a BTh with the option to specialise in Youth Work. 	PGDip (Theology)	1 year
Doctor of Philosophy	PhD	2 years

6. Undergraduate enrolment management

Meeting the minimum admission requirements of a specific programme does not guarantee that you will be admitted to that programme. A limited number of places are available, and enrolments are strategically managed.

Details about the University's selection procedures and admission requirements for undergraduate programmes are available at www.maties.com. See point 7 below for more on the Faculty's selection process for undergraduate programmes.

7. Selection process for undergraduate programmes

The following undergraduate programmes in Theology follow a selection process.

- BTh (focus areas General and Youth Work),
- BTh extended curriculum programme (focus areas General and Youth Work),
- BDiv, and
- BDiv extended curriculum programme.

Each year, a maximum of 100 students in total will be admitted to the BTh programme (focus areas General and Youth Work) and the BDiv programme added together.

Each year, a maximum of 25 students in total will be admitted to the BTh extended curriculum programme (focus areas General and Youth Work) and the BDiv extended curriculum programme added together.

Selection is based on:

- your final mark for the National Senior Certificate, and
- a motivational letter of no more than 250 words, to be submitted by you, on why you want to study theology.

8. Extended curriculum programmes

- If you have a weighted National Senior Certificate average (approved subjects) of at least 55%, but below 60%, you could possibly be admitted to an extended curriculum programme, but this also depends on an interview with the Dean or his or her representative.
- The extended curriculum programme is an academic development programme. If you are selected, you will complete the BTh programme (focus areas General and Youth Work) over four years instead of the usual three. The first academic year is divided into two years, and you will receive additional foundational support. A 16-credit module is also added to the third year to enhance your development and success.

The BDiv programme, which usually spans four years, is presented over five years as an extended curriculum programme. You will complete the first-year modules over two years. Thereafter, the modules to complete each year are the same as for the standard BDiv programme.

- The Faculty of Theology may also use the results of the early assessment tests, taken by all first-year students, to identify first-year students already studying in the Faculty for switching over to the extended curriculum programmes. The Programme Committee of the Faculty of Theology will make a recommendation in this regard.

9. Screening for the ministry

- If you are a prospective minister of:
 - the Dutch Reformed Church (DRC); or
 - the Uniting Reformed Church (URC) in Southern Africa; or
 - the Uniting Presbyterian Church in Southern Africa (UPCSA); or
 - the Anglican Church of Southern Africa
 who receives your training at this University, you must report to your denomination's Church Secretary at the beginning of your studies in order to undergo screening for the ministry.
- If you have interrupted your studies and now wish to continue with a view to entering the ministry, you must first discuss resumption of your selected programme with your denomination's Church Secretary before you apply for re-admission to this University.

10. Recognition of prior learning (RPL) and credit accumulation and transfer (CAT)

- Points of departure in decision making:
 - only credits obtained from accredited South African Higher Education Institutions, or from foreign Higher Education Institutions that are regarded to be in compliance with South African accreditation requirements and standards, will be considered;
 - only credits obtained at the applicable NQF level will be considered;
 - the nature and scope of modules or qualifications offered will determine whether credits will be acknowledged;
 - matriculation exemption is a prerequisite for advanced placement in the BTh or BDiv programmes; and
 - credits obtained elsewhere or earlier will not count as having been obtained for both admission and advanced placement purposes.
- No less than half of the SU qualification's credits and no less than half of the final-year credits must have been obtained at SU in order to obtain a SU qualification (in accordance with statutory provisions and SU regulations), therefore:
 - if you apply for advanced placement in the (three-year) BTh programme, you may at most join BTh II; OR
 - if you apply for advanced placement in the (four-year) BDiv programme, and only if ancient languages are at least at a level equivalent to SU's Greek I and Hebrew I, you may at most join BDiv III.
- If you have not passed ancient languages at first-year level when you are admitted with advanced placement in the (four-year) BDiv programme, you may at most join the second year of the curriculum, and:
 - you must successfully complete both Greek I and Hebrew I during the second year of the BDiv programme before you may register for the third-year modules in Old Testament and New Testament of the BDiv programme;
 - before you have completed the required ancient language modules, however, you may register for other third-year modules, provided that you meet the prerequisites of such modules;
 - the Dean has to grant permission (in consultation with the Programme Committee chair) to you as BDiv student, to take (only) during your second year the tutorials of the Old Testament II and New Testament II modules for BTh students, and to take part in the corresponding assessments.

11. Simultaneous registration for more than one programme

If you are registered for a programme in the Faculty of Theology and want to follow an honours, master's or doctoral programme simultaneously in another faculty of Stellenbosch University, you may apply in writing to Senate for permission to do so.

12. Occasional students: Extraordinary categories of students at the Faculty of Theology

Extraordinary students in the Faculty of Theology register as occasional students.

An occasional student is a student who:

- does not wish to follow the specific programme for degree or diploma purposes; or
- does not meet the requirements for admission to the programme.

You must thus register for at least one module and pass at least one module to continue your studies as occasional student. See also "Admission as Occasional Student" in Part 1 (General Rules) of the University Yearbook.

13. Specific regulations of the Faculty

Besides the general examination and promotion regulations, as explained under General Regulations in Part 1 (General Rules) of the Yearbook, you must familiarise yourself with the specific regulations applicable to each programme in the Faculty of Theology.

You must also take note of the prerequisite pass (PP), prerequisite (P) and corequisite (C) requirements that apply to each module. Definitions of these prerequisites, as well as particulars on the requirements per module are in the Subjects, Modules and Module Content chapter under the module content descriptions.

14. Continuation and completion of modules and programmes

- If you meet the prerequisite, corequisite and pass prerequisite requirements applicable to a specific module, you may, subject to the class and examination timetables, continue with the subsequent year's module of the subject you have passed.
- You may apply to the Faculty administrator (who may consult with the Faculty Manager and Programme Committee chair) for a concession to take a maximum of 32 credits (maximally 16 credits per semester) from a previous year of study of a subject, provided that the concession:
 - does not cause any class, test, or examination timetable clashes, and
 - does not apply to more than 16 credits in the same subject.
- Should there be class, test, or examination timetable clashes, or if more than 16 credits are involved, you must take the failed module (and not the subsequent year's module).
- This provision corresponds with the provision that a student may, at any time, register for a maximum of only 32 credits per year more than the prescribed maximum number of credits for the year of study concerned.

15. Dean's Concession Assessments

15.1 Who may be admitted to DCAs

You may be considered for admission to DCAs if:

- you are a final-year student and you have not obtained all the credits needed for your qualification, after the second semester A3 period has ended (The A3 period follows directly after the second semester's A2 period, which follows directly after the lecturing period);
- the credits you must still obtain are altogether no more than 24, in at most two modules that you still need to pass;
- you obtained a final mark of at least 30 for that academic year in each of the modules you still need to pass; and
- you meet the requirements for admission to a dean's concession assessment as set out in the assessment rules of the Faculty of Theology.

DCAs will only be awarded by the dean after consultation with the chair of the academic department or departments concerned. Under no circumstances may any department grant a DCA without the Dean's approval and no lecturer may give an undertaking to a student in this matter.

15.2 How to apply for a DCA

- It is your responsibility to identify yourself as a DCA candidate and to report to the faculty administrator to obtain the necessary permission and make the necessary arrangements. The faculty administrator must verify whether you do in fact qualify for a DCA and inform the department or departments concerned and the dean of this.
- DCAs are conducted on a date and time determined by the dean, in consultation with the department or departments concerned. DCAs will never take place later than 15 February.
- Note that, when you are granted access to a DCA, the amount for DCAs given in the Student Fees part of the Yearbook (Part 3) is added to your student account.

15.3 How your final mark is determined after a DCA

- Your mark in the DCA will be used to determine your final mark for that module, as specified in the assessment rules of the module's home faculty.
- DCAs must be internally and externally moderated according to the University's "Regulation for internal and external moderation and the processing of results" and the related arrangements of the programme's home faculty or centre.
- Re-evaluation does not apply to DCAs.

16. Absence from academic activities

The Faculty of Theology applies the rules for absence from academic activities as stated in Part 1 of the Yearbook (General Rules) under the section dealing with that topic.

17. Interruption of studies

The Faculty of Theology applies the rules for interruption of studies as stated in Part 1 of the Yearbook (General Rules) under the section dealing with that topic.

18. Bursaries

If you want to apply for bursaries, consult Part 2 (Bursary and Loans) of the Yearbook for information about the bursaries available. You must contact Bursaries and Loans directly. The Faculty does not deal with bursary applications. For more information on bursaries and loans, visit: <http://www.maties.com/bursaries-loans-and-fees.html>.

19. Student representation

You are automatically a member of the Theological Student Society if you are registered as a student in the Faculty of Theology. This society is managed by the Theological Student Committee (TSC). The committee comprises an elected executive committee of nine members assisted by elected class representatives from each academic year. The TSC is affiliated with the Student Representative Council of Stellenbosch University and also has two seats on the Academic Affairs Council. Members of the TSC have seats on the Faculty Board and faculty committees, namely the Programme Committee, Transformation Committee, Social Impact Committee, Coram Deo, as well as on committees of the different teaching and learning task groups (TGLOs). The TSC manages its own finances and handles academic complaints of all students in the Faculty of Theology in collaboration with the Dean's office. The TSC is non-denominational, represents all student interests in the Faculty and coordinates student projects.

Undergraduate Programmes

1. Admission requirements

1.1 School-leaving qualifications

If you have matriculated in 2007 or earlier, you need the following for admission to the University:

- a Senior Certificate with full matriculation endorsement, or an exemption certificate of the Matriculation Board; or
- a conditional certificate of exemption from the matriculation examination issued by the Matriculation Board to candidates from foreign countries; or
- a conditional certificate of exemption from the matriculation examination issued on the grounds of age (to people 23 years and older).

If you have obtained the National Senior Certificate (NSC) in 2008 or later, you need the following for admission to the University:

- a National Senior Certificate as certified by Umalusi with admission to bachelor's degree studies.¹

¹ Admission to bachelor's degree studies requires that you obtain a mark of at least 4 (50–59%) in each of four designated university admission subjects.

1.2 Minimum admission requirements for degree programmes in the Faculty of Theology

For admission to the degree programmes in the Faculty, you must meet the following minimum admission requirements:

1.2.1 National Senior Certificate (NSC)

- An average final mark of at least 60%, excluding Life Orientation
- A weighted average for the National Senior Certificate (approved subjects) of 60% or higher, if you do not have Theology as first choice; OR if you apply for Theology during the registration period.

1.3 Admission requirements for the extended curriculum programmes

- If you have a weighted National Senior Certificate average (approved subjects) of at least 55%, but below 60%, you could possibly be admitted to an extended curriculum programme, but this also depends on an interview with the Dean or his or her representative.
- If you have a weighted National Senior Certificate average (approved subjects) of below 55%, you may apply for and possibly gain admission to an extended curriculum programme based on the Regulation for the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) and Credit Accumulation and Transfer (CAT).
- If you have a weighted National Senior Certificate average (approved subjects) of below 55%, but higher than 50%, and if you are socio-economically disadvantaged, your church denomination may approach the Dean for a Dean's discretionary admission. The Dean will consider this request in consultation with the Programme Committee chair.

2. Selection process

The following undergraduate programmes in Theology follow a selection process.

- BTh (focus areas General and Youth Work),
- BTh extended curriculum programme (focus areas General and Youth Work),
- BDiv, and
- BDiv extended curriculum programme.

Each year, a maximum of 100 students in total will be admitted to the BTh programme (focus areas General and Youth Work) and the BDiv programme added together.

Each year, a maximum of 25 students in total will be admitted to the BTh extended curriculum programme (focus areas General and Youth Work) and the BDiv extended curriculum programme added together.

Selection is based on:

- your final mark for the National Senior Certificate, and
- a motivational letter of no more than 250 words, to be submitted by you, on why you want to study theology.

3. Computer and academic literacy

Knowledge Skills 172(6) is a compulsory module in the BTh programme with focus areas General and Youth Work, and in the BDiv programme, as computer skills are becoming increasingly essential in congregational work.

Academic Literacy for Theology 113(12) and 143(12) are compulsory modules in the BTh programme with focus area Part-time.

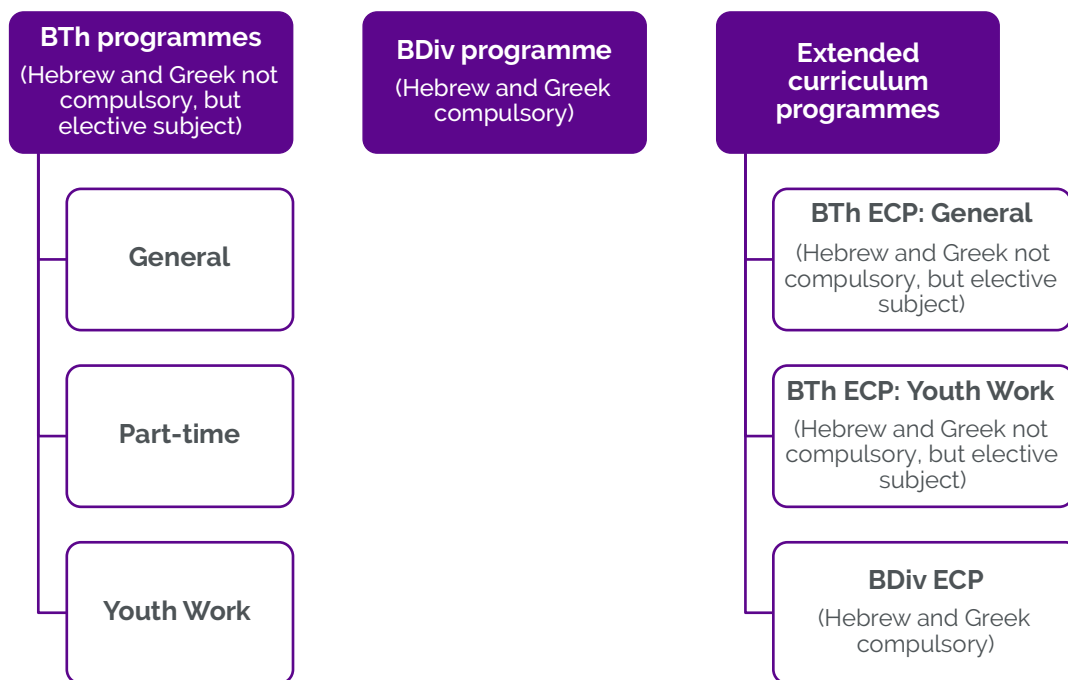

Academic Literacy for Theology 112(12) and 142(12) are compulsory modules in the BTh extended curriculum programmes with focus areas General and Youth Work.

Academic Literacy for Theology 112(12) is a compulsory module of the BDiv extended curriculum programme.

These modules aim to promote the academic and digital literacy and development of theology students; thus it focuses on the reading, writing and researching knowledge, skills and attitudes required to become a successful student of theology.

4. Summary and explanation of undergraduate programmes

The following diagram offers a representation of the undergraduate bachelor's degree programmes in the Faculty of Theology, as well as the requirements with regard to Hebrew and Greek. The blocks under BTh programmes display the three fields of study. The three extended curriculum programmes that can be followed are set out in the blocks under extended curriculum programmes.

4.1 BTh programme (NQF level 7)

Mission

Students and staff function as co-participants in this programme to develop in students the skills to reflect critically and theologically on the South African, African and global context. The programme strives for an engaging learning environment that fosters diverse, transformative and critical theological abilities. Once you have participated in this programme, you will have developed intercultural skills and the ability to discern social relevance.

Target Group

- Students who would like to become involved in diverse contexts in a church, community or institution from a theological perspective.
- Denominations or churches who employ ministers, persons who minister to children, youth workers or community workers. Greek and Hebrew are not required.
- Students who want to undergo general theological training or to specialise in youth work; the Faculty of Theology will issue on request a declaration that you have specialised in youth work.

Specific Admission Requirements

In addition to meeting the requirements for university admission, you must also have an average final mark of at least 60% for the National Senior Certificate, excluding Life Orientation, to study in the Faculty of Theology.

Selection process

The following BTh programmes follow a selection process.

- BTh (focus areas General and Youth Work), and
- BTh extended curriculum programme (focus areas General and Youth Work).

Each year, a maximum of 100 students in total will be admitted to the BTh programme (focus areas General and Youth Work) and the BDiv programme added together.

Each year, a maximum of 25 students in total will be admitted to the BTh extended curriculum programme (focus areas General and Youth Work) and the BDiv extended curriculum programme added together.

Selection is based on:

- your final mark for the National Senior Certificate, and
- a motivational letter, of no more than 250 words, to be submitted by you, on why you want to study theology.

Closing Date for Applications

You must apply before 30 September of the year preceding your studies.

Duration of Programme

The duration of the programme is three years of full-time study.

This programme leads to the Postgraduate Diplomas in Theology, the MTh programmes, and the MPhil programmes in the Faculty of Theology.

For more information on admission to the postgraduate programme you are considering, please consult the relevant postgraduate programme's details in the "Postgraduate Programmes" chapter in this Yearbook Part.

Programme Outcomes

After completion of this programme, you will:

- be able to think theologically about the South African and African contexts, and realise how complex they are;
- be a thought leader who knows what is relevant to the society in which you find yourself and who can function in various cultures, which allows you to:
 - work effectively with others,
 - enter into dialogue with various Christian theological theories that you encounter, and integrate them into a whole, and
 - promote ethical decision-making in churches and communities;
- interpret religious texts such as the Bible from a theological understanding, which enables you to enter into critical and theological dialogue about issues such as reconciliation, equality, justice and peace; and you will have the ability to function as a leader in different faith communities because you know how to approach personal management and problem-solving from a theological perspective.

Programme Structure

A minimum number of students have to register for a module for the module to be presented.

Although Hebrew and Greek are not compulsory, you may take them as elective modules.

Besides the theological core curriculum, certain theological as well as non-theological elective modules are also relevant for training of community ministers, leaders in religious communities, such as youth workers, and people rendering service to those in need. You can take elective modules in Theology or in the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences.

In the BTh, focus area General, you may choose electives other than the ones listed, should you wish to pursue a postgraduate programme that requires undergraduate subjects not on the list of electives. The total number of credits must be at least equal to that required for the BTh programme, focus area General. This also applies to the BTh extended curriculum programme (ECP), focus area General, from your second year of study if you demonstrate satisfactory academic performance in your first year of study. However, the following conditions apply:

- Permission must be granted by the Dean in consultation with the Chair of the Programme Committee.
- You must ensure that you comply with the minimum requirements for the relevant modules.
- You must adhere to the SU rules regarding class and assessment clashes.
- You must take responsibility for the management of your own timetable and assessment schedule.

The tables below set out the structure of the three focus areas in the BTh programme, namely General, Part-time and Youth Work.

4.1.1 A breakdown of the programme structure of the BTh programme, focus area General, over all three years of study

4.3 BTh programme, focus area Part-time (NQF level 7)

Programme Description

The BTh programme with focus area Part-time is a programme in which the content of the three-year BTh programme with focus area General is presented over four years.

Specific Admission Requirements

Eligibility

In addition to meeting the requirements for university admission, you must also meet a number of specific criteria to be eligible for the BTh programme with focus area Part-time.

You may apply for this programme if you:

- are at least 30 years old or older;
- are a second-career student (a student that is or has been employed in another career) or in ministry;
- have completed the Faculty's introductory theology and computer literacy short courses on NQF level 5;
- provide proof of ministerial experience or a letter of motivation from your denominational head.

If you are in a mainstream programme, you cannot transfer to this programme.

The number of students admitted to this programme per year is limited, and a selection panel will evaluate prospective students.

Admission requirements for students who obtained the National Senior Certificate (NSC) in 2008 or later

If you completed a National Senior Certificate, you must have the following:

- An average final mark of at least 60%, excluding Life Orientation;
- Exemption for a bachelor's degree.

Admission requirements for students who matriculated in 2007 or earlier

- You must have a matric certificate with a minimum of four symbols between A and E (at least 40%);
- At least one subject must be on higher-grade level;
- You must have passed at least three subjects during the same examination sitting.
- You must apply to the Matriculation Board for matriculation exemption.
- If you are older than 45 years, you must provide evidence from the Matriculation Board that you have matriculation exemption.

Closing Date for Applications

You must apply before 30 September of the year preceding your studies.

Duration of Programme

The duration of the BTh programme with focus area Part-time is four years.

Teaching and Learning

This programme is offered in hybrid format. It consists of block contact sessions on campus as well as online and technologically mediated activities that are synchronous as well as asynchronous in nature:

- You will be required to attend one block contact week on campus per term, which is two per semester. These contact weeks will be scheduled for the second and third week of each term and dates will be communicated by the beginning of each year as soon as the University's academic calendar has been finalised. The block contact sessions will consist of lectures to solidify threshold concepts, theory and debates relating to the module.
- Synchronous activities (students and lecturers engage in real time) as well as asynchronous activities (students learn in their own time) will offer additional learning opportunities and include lectures, tutorials, peer interaction and assessment opportunities.

If you complete the BTh programme with focus area Part-time, the continued study possibilities are the same as for the standard BTh programmes; it can be followed by the programmes in the Faculty of Theology that are listed below:

- the Postgraduate Diplomas in Theology,
- the MTh programmes,
- the MPhil programmes.

For more information on admission to postgraduate programmes, please consult the Postgraduate Programmes chapter in this Yearbook Part.

Programme Structure

Although the BTh programme with focus area Part-time takes one year longer than the BTh programme with focus area General, the module contents of the two programmes are the same.

Find more information on the module contents of undergraduate programmes in the Subjects, Modules and Module Contents for All Undergraduate Programmes chapter in this Yearbook Part.

The curricula for the four years of study are set out below.

4.6 BDiv programme (604100) (NQF level 8)

Target Group

- The BDiv programme offers professional theological training to denominations requiring Hebrew and Greek as part of their theological training.
- Follow this programme if you want to prepare yourself for the ministry, to become a religious leader in society and to offer aid to people in need.

Specific Admission Requirements

In addition to meeting the requirements for university admission, you must also have an average final mark of at least 60% for the National Senior Certificate, excluding Life Orientation, to study in the Faculty of Theology.

Selection process

The following BDiv programmes follow a selection process.

- BDiv, and
- BDiv extended curriculum programme.

Each year, a maximum of 100 students in total will be admitted to the BTh programme (focus areas General and Youth Work) and the BDiv programme added together.

Each year, a maximum of 25 students in total will be admitted to the BTh extended curriculum programme (focus areas General and Youth Work) and the BDiv extended curriculum programme added together.

Selection is based on:

- your final mark for the National Senior Certificate, and
- a motivational letter of no more than 250 words, to be submitted by you, on why you want to study theology.

Closing Date for Applications

You must apply before 30 September of the year preceding your studies.

Duration of Programme

The duration of the programme is four years of full-time study.

- This programme leads to the Postgraduate Diplomas in Theology, the MTh programmes, the MPhil programmes and the MDiv programme in the Faculty of Theology.

For more information on admission to the postgraduate programme you are considering, please consult the relevant postgraduate programme's details in the Postgraduate Programmes chapter in this Yearbook Part.

Programme Outcomes

After completion of this programme, you will have:

- an extensive, systematic and integrated knowledge of all theological disciplines, bearing in mind the Bible in its original languages (Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek);
- knowledge of the principles and theory of theological hermeneutics;
- knowledge of the nature and functioning of the church;
- the ability to determine the context of ministry;
- the ability to communicate the Christian message effectively;
- the ability to point out the applicability of the Bible in the Southern African context;
- insight into the way in which perceptions of human dignity influence value systems;
- the ability to develop a contextual theory of practice about how faith communities should function within their own set of circumstances; and
- knowledge and an understanding of other faith traditions, especially in Africa.

Programme Structure

A minimum number of students have to register for a module for the module to be presented.

Depending on denominational preference, different levels of skill in the biblical languages (Hebrew, Aramaic and Greek) are required of you. You must familiarise yourself with the requirements for biblical languages as set by your specific denomination.

- At present the Dutch Reformed Church requires two years of study of Greek and Hebrew.
- At present the Uniting Reformed Church requires one year of study of Greek and Hebrew, as well as one year of training in a South African language besides the student's mother tongue, e.g. Afrikaans, English or Xhosa (see language modules offered by the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences).

Although the BDiv programme does not include any elective modules in the first year of study, you can take elective modules on second-year and third-year level.

In the fourth year of study, you must complete an important assignment (48 credits) in any of the six subdivisions of theology as a field of study. You have to submit it before or on 1 November, after which an internal as well as an external examiner will assess the assignment. The table below sets out the structure of the BDiv programme.

4.6.1 A breakdown of the programme structure of the BDiv programme over all four years of study

BDiv	Denomination	Module structure	Credits
First year	All students	Minimum credits at NQF level 6	132

Additional requirement of the Uniting Reformed Church regarding South African languages

At present the Uniting Reformed Church requires one year of training in another South African language besides your mother tongue, for example in Afrikaans, English or Xhosa (these language modules are offered by the Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences; see that faculty's Yearbook Part for the module descriptions):

- If Afrikaans or English is your mother tongue, you must register for Xhosa 178 (24)
- If Xhosa is your mother tongue, you must register for one of the following Afrikaans modules:
 - Afrikaans as Foreign Language 179 (24), if you had no training in Afrikaans or had Afrikaans as Second Additional Language at school;

OR

- Afrikaans as Second Language 189 (24), if you had Afrikaans as First Additional Language at school.

Afrikaans as Foreign Language	179(24)
Afrikaans as Second Language	189(24)
Xhosa	178(24)

Additional subject (optional)

If you wish to develop your knowledge-building skills, for example skills in word processing, data processing, accessing library resources and conducting literature searches using relevant academic databases, ethically using existing academic research and consistently applying referencing methods correctly, may enrol for Knowledge Skills 172 offered in the Faculty of Social Sciences.

4.8 Extended curriculum programmes

Programme Description

The extended curriculum programme (ECP) offers selected students an opportunity to complete their qualification through an additional year of formal studies.

If you are selected, you will complete the BTh programme (focus areas General and Youth Work) over four years instead of the usual three. The first academic year is divided into two years and you will receive additional foundational support. A 16-credit module is also added to the third year to enhance your development and success. This module focusses on a range of knowledge and skills aimed at your holistic development and support. The goal is to ensure that you complete the programme with the required academic and professional skills, but also with the personal skills to navigate your future career as a spiritual leader.

The BDiv programme, which usually spans four years, is presented over five years as an extended curriculum programme. You will complete the first-year modules over two years. Thereafter, the modules to complete each year are the same as for the standard BDiv programme.

Specific Admission Requirements

In addition to the requirements for university admission, the following specific admission requirements apply for an extended curriculum programme in the Faculty of Theology:

- If you have a weighted National Senior Certificate average (approved subjects) of at least 55%, but below 60%, you could be considered for admission to an extended curriculum programme, but this also depends on an interview with the Dean or his or her representative.
- If you have a weighted National Senior Certificate average (approved subjects) of below 55%, you may apply for and possibly gain admission to an extended curriculum programme based on the Regulation for the Recognition of Prior Learning (RPL) and Credit Accumulation and Transfer (CAT).
- If you have a weighted National Senior Certificate average (approved subjects) of below 55%, but higher than 50%, and if you are socio-economically disadvantaged, your church denomination may approach the Dean for a Dean's discretionary admission. The Dean will consider the request in consultation with the Programme Committee chair.

Selection process

The following extended degree programmes in Theology follow a selection process.

- BTh extended curriculum programme (focus areas General and Youth Work), and
- BDiv extended curriculum programme.

Each year, a maximum of 25 students in total will be admitted to the BTh extended curriculum programme (focus areas General and Youth Work) and the BDiv extended curriculum programme added together.

Selection is based on:

- your final mark for the National Senior Certificate, and
- a motivational letter of no more than 250 words, to be submitted by you, on why you want to study theology.

Closing Date for Applications

You must apply before 30 September of the year preceding your studies.

Duration of Programme

The duration of the BTh extended curriculum programmes (focus areas General and Youth Work) is four years; the BDiv extended curriculum programme is five years.

- If you complete a BTh extended curriculum programme, the continued study possibilities are the same as for the standard BTh programmes; it can be followed by the programmes in the Faculty of Theology listed below:
 - the Postgraduate Diplomas in Theology,
 - the MTh programmes,
 - the MPhil programmes.
- If you complete the BDiv extended curriculum programme the continued study possibilities are the same as for the standard BDiv programme; it can be followed by the programmes in the Faculty of Theology listed below:
 - the Postgraduate Diplomas in Theology,
 - the MTh programmes,
 - the MPhil programmes,

- the MDiv programme.

For more information on admission to postgraduate programmes, please consult the Postgraduate Programmes chapter in this Yearbook Part.

Programme Structure

A minimum number of students have to register for a module for the module to be presented.

In the BTh, focus area General, you may choose electives other than the ones listed should you wish to pursue a postgraduate programme that requires undergraduate subjects not on the list of electives. The total number of credits must be at least equal to that required for the BTh programme, focus area General. This also applies to the BTh extended curriculum programme (ECP), focus area General, from your second year of study if you demonstrate satisfactory academic performance in your first year of study. However, the following conditions apply:

- Permission must be granted by the Dean in consultation with the Chair of the Programme Committee.
- You must ensure that you comply with the minimum requirements for the relevant modules.
- You must adhere to the SU rules regarding class and assessment clashes.
- You must take responsibility for the management of your own timetable and assessment schedule.

Find more information on the module contents of undergraduate programmes in the Subjects, Modules and Module Contents for All Undergraduate Programmes chapter in this Yearbook Part.

THIRD, FOURTH AND FIFTH YEAR

Curricula for the second, third and fourth year of study for the BDiv programme (604100) (NQF level 8) are followed, as set out in the Undergraduate Programmes chapter.

Postgraduate Programmes

1. Summary and explanation of postgraduate programmes

The diagram below offers a representation of the postgraduate programmes offered in the Faculty of Theology, namely postgraduate diplomas, master's degrees and doctoral degrees. It also gives a summary of the options within the various programmes, under each block.

2. Postgraduate Diplomas

2.1 Postgraduate Diploma in Theology – PGDip (Theology) (445100, one-year duration) (445101, two-year duration) (NQF level 8)

Religion and Culture focus

The MPhil in Religion and Culture is preceded by a Postgraduate Diploma in Theology done with a Religion and Culture focus. You register for the Postgraduate Diploma in Theology, and for your research assignment you should research a theme that relates to Religion and Culture.

Target Group

- Students without any theological training, from a variety of backgrounds and disciplines and who have previously obtained a bachelor's (BSc, BA or similar) degree on NQF level 7.
- Students with a three-year qualification in theology (exit-level NQF level 7) who do not qualify to continue with an MDiv, MTh or Postgraduate Diploma in Theology in Christian Ministry.

Specific Admission Requirements

- Any bachelor's degree (NQF level 7) or equivalent qualification, which need not necessarily be in theology, with a final aggregate mark of at least 50% over the duration of your studies; or,
- An equivalent qualification from this or another university or seminary approved for this purpose by Senate or by the Executive Committee acting on behalf of Senate.

Teaching and Learning Requirements

This programme is presented in a hybrid format and therefore includes online activities such as lectures and submitting your assessments through SUNLearn; for this reason, you must have stable access to the internet, as well as data and a computer or similar electronic device.

Closing Date for Applications

- If you are a South African citizen, you must apply before 30 October of the year preceding study.
- If you are an international student, you must apply before 30 September of the year preceding study.

Duration of Programme

You can enrol to complete this programme in one year or over two years. If you choose to do the programme over two years, you will complete your research project in the second year.

Presentation Structure

- Electronic learning by using SUNLearn (the learning management system of Stellenbosch University), and MS Teams (the team collaboration platform of Stellenbosch University), which includes contemporary teaching techniques, online discussion groups with fellow students and lecturers and electronic assignments.
- Modules (year modules) are offered in block-contact sessions throughout the year.

Contact Sessions

Synchronous and asynchronous teaching and learning contact sessions will be conducted with the assistance of the SUNLearn and MS Teams platforms (details in the PGDip information booklet).

Orientation

Two orientation sessions are planned per year, each at the start of a semester. The purpose of these sessions is to provide students with necessary information, introduce them to lecturers, and answer general questions.

Teaching and Learning

This will be done in block-contact sessions throughout the year. A programme will be included in the programme guide and the module framework and will be distributed electronically at the beginning of each academic year.

Workshops

Workshops on research methodology, academic writing, selection and access to resources and the use of electronic databases will be presented. These workshops are compulsory for students enrolled for the research assignment (60-credit) module and will only be presented at the start of each year.

Assessment and Examination

The 10-credit modules are assessed through diagnostic, formative, and summative assessments as communicated in the module frameworks. The 60-credit module is assessed by means of a written research assignment, and an oral examination, which includes book reviews. The book reviews and oral examination combined contribute 50% of the final mark of the module, and the research assignment the other 50%.

Submission dates for research assignments:

- 1 November for the December graduation; and
- 15 January for the March graduation.

The research assignment is examined by an internal, as well as an external examiner.

Take note: graduation is dependent on a student completing all modules successfully (i.e. minimum requirement of 50%).

After completion of this programme, you can:

- continue with further studies/research in theology through the Master in Theology (NQF level 9),
- register for the Master of Divinity (NQF level 9), if you comply with the admission requirements for a MDiv, or
- register the Postgraduate Diploma in Theology in Christian Ministry (NQF level 8), if you comply with the admission requirements for a Postgraduate Diploma in Theology in Christian Ministry.

Programme Outcomes

When you have completed this programme, you should:

- have a broad overview of a variety of theological disciplines for your personal enrichment;
- be able to identify problems and have developed critical analytical thinking.
- have a basic understanding of methodology and research in theology.

The programme offers:

- An introduction to, orientation in, and understanding of the position of theology as a field of study on postgraduate level.
- A general orientation in:
 - Old Testament studies
 - New Testament studies
 - systematic theology
 - ecclesiology
 - practical theology
 - missiology

Programme Structure

The programme consists of:

- Six compulsory modules of 10 credits each. These six modules cover the six main subjects, Ecclesiology, Missiology (including Community Development), New Testament, Old Testament, Practical Theology, and Systematic Theology. These modules are offered in block sessions throughout the year.
- A research assignment in your field of specialisation. The research topic for the assignment will depend on your choice of elective module. The elective module is offered over one year and includes contact sessions on research methodology and academic writing, including sessions between the supervisor and the student.

One-year programme

We recommend that the following students consider the one-year programme:

- students who have already received training in theology, and
- students who are not employed full-time.

You will be expected to:

- Attend orientation sessions and sessions on research methodology and academic writing.
- Attend contact sessions for all six the 10-credit modules, do assignments and write exams.
- Write and submit a research assignment. This 60-credit module includes extensive reading in the area of specialisation as well as a research assignment and oral examinations.

Two-year programme

We recommend that the following students consider the two-year registration programme:

- students without any training in theology, and
- students who are employed full-time.

During the first year, you are expected to:

- Attend orientation sessions.
- Attend contact sessions for all six the 10-credit modules, do assignments, and write exams.

During the second year, you are expected to:

- Attend sessions on research methodology and academic writing.
- Write and submit a research assignment. This 60-credit module includes extensive reading in the area of specialisation as well as a research assignment and oral examinations.

2.2 Postgraduate Diploma in Theology in Christian Ministry – PGDip (Theology) (Christian Ministry) (606100) (NQF level 8)

Target Group

- Prospective ministers, Christian leaders, and pastoral care givers from all denominations who want to receive supervised practical training;
 - in order to develop ministry skills within a specific denominational context by integrating theological theories with ministry practice.

Presentation

- The programme is presented by the Practical Theology and Missiology discipline group in co-operation with the Old and New Testament and the Systematic Theology and Ecclesiology discipline groups.
- The discipline group Practical Theology and Missiology is responsible for the selection and training of the supervisors and mentors, as well as for the allocation of congregations.
- The placement of candidates in congregations for congregational exposure is done in co-operation with the contracted churches before the orientation day, which takes place in November of the preceding year.

Specific Admission Requirements

- A MDiv (Church Ministry), as determined by the relevant church denomination.

Closing Date for Applications

- If you are a South African citizen, you must apply before 30 October of the year preceding study.
- If you are an international student, you must apply before 30 September of the year preceding study.

Duration of Programme

The duration of the programme is one year.

Assessment and Examination

Assessment consists of, among other things, research reports and assignments during the first and second semesters.

Programme Outcomes

After completion of this programme, you will have:

- a theological-hermeneutical understanding of the ministry practice in faith communities;
- an understanding of the functioning of a practical theological ecclesiology;
- the ability to act as leader within different faith communities; and
- the ability to illustrate various ministry skills in opportunities created by the ministry practice.

Programme Structure

- The programme focuses on supervised professional training within a congregational context, in order to develop ministry skills.
- The training takes place under supervision of the Board of Governors and church councils of various church denominations in co-operation with the Faculty of Theology, in order to comply with the church's requirements regarding the admission and calling of ministers, Christian leaders and pastoral care givers.
- You do not attend any lectures for this programme. You work independently and must submit reports and assignments.

Course of the Programme

- All the prospective candidates and their mentors must attend an orientation day in November of the preceding year.
- The candidates report to the congregations at the beginning of the last full week in January.
- Students return to campus four times during the year:
 - In March: At this session the programme is set out by the programme co-ordinator and the lecturers explain the assignments and the requirements of the subdisciplines.
 - In May: The half-year assessment takes place over the course of one week. All assignments for the first semester are discussed at this session.

- The last two full weeks in August: Final conversations with the curatorium take place and the assignments of the second semester are discussed.
- The first week in November: After the candidates have completed their year-long ministry exposure in the congregations, the whole group meets for final feedback and assessment with the mentors and lecturers.
- Cross-cultural exposure:
 - Each candidate is expected to experience cross-cultural exposure at another denomination for a period of at least two weeks.
 - This cross-cultural exposure is organised in collaboration with the supervisor for a time and place as mutually agreed upon.

- A BDiv degree; or
- Another qualification that is judged by Senate to be equivalent to the content of the four-year BDiv programme, as well as the bible languages requirements regarding the current BDiv degree.

Closing Date for Applications

- If you are a South African citizen, you must apply before 30 October of the year preceding study.
- If you are an international student, you must apply before 30 September of the year preceding study.

Duration of Programme

The duration of the MDiv programme is one year of full-time study.

Assessment and Examination

The assessment of the seven modules consists of formative assessment over the course of a module and summative assessment at the end of each module.

Programme Outcomes

After completion of this programme, you will:

- have the ability to articulate your own practical theological ecclesiology;
- be able to describe the role of the church in society;
- be able to do congregational analyses in different contexts and situations;
- have an understanding of theoretical insights regarding church history and church polity, systematic ecclesiology and symbolism, homiletics and liturgy, Christian spirituality and the identity of a Christian leader;
- have developed a number of ministry and communications skills with regard to preaching, pastorate, community development and missionary leadership;

- have pastoral care and crisis ministry skills; and
- be able to implement an ecosystemic ministry within a pastoral policy of preventing marital and family problems.

Programme Structure

- The first semester starts in the middle of January and runs for 21 weeks. The second semester runs for 15 weeks.
- The different subthemes under the main themes are presented by means of a block approach and the integration of various theological disciplines.
- For the purpose of this programme, a week starts on a Tuesday and ends on a Monday in order to include the weekend.
- In May-June all the candidates go on a compulsory combined ecumenical tour of approximately two weeks.

4. MTh (NQF level 9)

Target Group

The various MTh Programmes are aimed at students who wish to undertake advanced studies in a specific theological field of study.

Specific Admission Requirements

- Any degree programme in Theology at NQF level 8, or any other appropriate four-year qualification equivalent to a four-year training deemed by Senate to be suitable for the proposed study; and
 - you must comply with further requirements that the relevant discipline group may set;
 - during your Theology studies you must have maintained an average achievement of at least 60% in the subject in which you wish to acquire the MTh degree, and obtained an average of 60% in the final year of Theology-related studies preceding the MTh degree;
 - you must have applied in writing and have been admitted to the MTh programme by Senate, or by the Executive Committee acting on behalf of Senate; or
- A BAHons (Religious Studies) which you have obtained after a BA (with Theology) at this University, or some other honours degree deemed equivalent by Senate, or if you have achieved in another way a standard of competence in your particular field of study, deemed adequate by Senate; and
 - you must comply with further requirements that the relevant discipline group may set;
 - during your Theology studies you must have maintained an average achievement of at least 60% in the subject in which you wish to acquire the MTh degree, and obtained an average of 60% in the final year of Theology-related studies preceding the MTh degree;
 - you must have applied in writing and have been admitted to the MTh programme by Senate, or by the Executive Committee acting on behalf of Senate; or
- If you have passed this University's Postgraduate Diploma in Theology with an average of at least 65%, and received a mark of at least 60% for the research assignment in the subject in which you wish to obtain the MTh degree, you may apply to sit for an admission examination, as determined by the relevant discipline group, with a view to enrolment for the MTh programme.
- If you wish to write an MTh thesis, you must submit a research proposal in which the research problem, the research methodology and the method of work are set out to the satisfaction of your supervisor(s).

Supplementary Language Requirements

- If you do not meet the language requirements such as German, Latin, etc. as set by the relevant discipline group, you must supplement the language requirements preferably before, or otherwise during, the first phase of the MTh programme.
- If you must do supplementary studies in Greek and Ancient Near Eastern Languages and Cultures with a view to registration for the programmes MTh and PhD, you must report to the relevant discipline groups before 1 October of the preceding year, so that special arrangements can be made for you.
- International candidates who have obtained their qualifications from tertiary institutions where English is not the language of instruction are required to provide proof of English Language proficiency. This evidence must accompany your application and must not be older than 24 months from the date of application to the University.
 - The minimum English language requirements and recognised language tests for admission to Stellenbosch University's postgraduate degree programmes are available via the Prospective Postgraduate Student website (<https://www.su.ac.za/en/apply/pg-studies/how-apply-postgraduate-studies>).
- You will not be allowed to take any examination in the programme for which you are registered before a certificate in English communication skills has been obtained.

Supplementary requirements with regard to major subjects

The following additional requirements apply to the various subjects when they are chosen as major subjects for MTh studies. If you do not meet these requirements, you must complete the outstanding module(s).

- Ecclesiology: If necessary, Latin I.
- New Testament: Appropriate language requirements as determined by the discipline group in the light of your research proposal.
- Old Testament: Appropriate language requirements as determined by the discipline group in the light of your research proposal.
- Old and New Testament: Appropriate language requirements as determined by the discipline group in the light of your research proposal.

- Systematic Theology: Relevant requirements as determined by the discipline group.
- The supervisor can also recommend that the Faculty of Theology set additional requirements necessary for a particular field of study.

Closing Date for Applications

- Admissions of new applications for MTh programmes are considered twice a year, namely in May and October. Therefore, if you have not obtained your preceding qualification at this university, the closing dates for applications are:
 - 1 May (for enrolment as from the second semester); or
 - preferably, 30 October (for enrolment as from the first semester of the following year).
- If you have obtained your preceding qualification at SU, your application will be considered immediately.
- Apply to the Registrar and state your area of specialisation.
- Direct queries about the application procedure to the Faculty administrator at shirle@sun.ac.za.

Duration of Programme

- The duration of the MTh programme is at least one year.
- A supervisor may, after consultation with the discipline concerned, require a minimum period of six months' residence for MTh students from outside Southern Africa.

Assessment and Examination

- Of candidates following the structured option, also called 889 candidates:
 - You must complete a research assignment of 16 000–20 000 words.
 - You must submit an electronic PDF version of the assignment through Turnitin and at the administrative officer of the disciplinary group concerned.
 - The submission dates for research assignments are:
 - 1 November for the December graduation; and
 - 15 January for the March graduation.
 - The research assignment is examined by both an internal and an external examiner.
- Of candidates following the thesis option, also called 879 candidates:
 - You do a final oral examination which covers the thesis and (where applicable) the evaluation of practical work. The examination is set by at least the discipline groups involved with the main subject and supplementary subjects.
 - When you, as 879 candidate, declare yourself ready for the examination of your thesis by a faculty-appointed examination committee, you must submit an electronic pdf version of the thesis through Turnitin and at the administrative officer of the disciplinary group concerned, either before 1 September (for the December graduation ceremony) or before 1 December (for the March graduation ceremony).
 - The examination of the thesis is conducted in accordance with the Faculty's Guidelines for Administration and Supervision of Postgraduate Study.
 - For the technical requirements in respect of the appearance, duplication and binding of theses, see Part 1 (General Rules) of the Yearbook.
 - Also see Part 1 (General Rules) of the Yearbook for general regulations in respect of examiners for master's theses.

Programme Structure

To obtain the MTh degree, you can follow one of two options:

1. a structured option (also called the 889 option), where you obtain the degree if you:
 - successfully complete four examination papers in your field of specialisation and one paper in each of the supplementary subjects; and
 - your research assignment receives a combined mark of more than 50% from the internal and external examiners;
- or
2. a thesis option (also called the 879 option), where you obtain the degree if you:
 - successfully complete two examination papers in your field of specialisation and a paper in one supplementary subject; and
 - successfully defend a thesis before the Faculty.

Course of the Programme

- You register for the modules and assignment or thesis concerned at the administrative officer of the discipline group in which you wish to specialise.
- After registering for the programme, you will receive a policy document from the relevant discipline group containing clear guidelines concerning the respective responsibilities of the student and the supervisor, regular discussions, progress reports, examination procedures, assessment criteria for theses and other regulations as set out by the discipline group.
- Discipline groups annually report to the Faculty on the progress of students.
- You must take note of all fees and possible additional levies as specified in Part 3 (Student Fees) of the Yearbook, or you must consult the Student Fees Division.

Licensing for the Ministry

If you wish to present yourself for licensing for the ministry of a specific denomination, you can, during your MTh study, complete the outstanding modules for the MDiv and or Postgraduate Programme in Theology in Christian Ministry to the satisfaction of the licensing body of the church concerned.

Programme Content

- The MTh structured option (also called the 889 option), as well as the MTh thesis option (also called the 879 option) can be followed in one of the following theological disciplines:
 - Ecclesiology
 - Missiology
 - New Testament
 - Old Testament
 - Practical Theology
 - Systematic Theology
- You may take supplementary subjects presented in departments in other faculties of this University.
- The specific modules that you follow in each of the theological disciplines are set out under the specific MTh structured programmes.

5. MPhil Programmes

5.1 MPhil in Religion and Culture preceded by PGDip (Theology)

5.1.1 Postgraduate Diploma (Theology) (445100)

- Religion and Culture focus
 - If you want to specialise in Religion and Culture, you register for the Postgraduate Diploma in Theology. For your research assignment you should research a theme that relates to Religion and Culture.
- See Postgraduate Diploma in Theology under Postgraduate Diplomas.

5.1.2 MPhil in Religion and Culture (11646:889)

Presentation

- The programme is presented by the discipline of Practical Theology and Missiology of the Faculty of Theology at Stellenbosch University in co-operation with Humboldt University in Berlin.
- Mode of teaching: class work, lectures, prescribed work.
- Medium of instruction: English.

Specific Admission Requirements

- See specific as well as supplementary admission requirements as for all MTh programmes.
- If you hold only a three-year B-degree qualification, you must first complete a Postgraduate Diploma in Theology (with the focus on Religion and Culture) and pass with an average of at least 65%, to enrol for the MPhil; or
- If you hold a four-year qualification that is not equivalent to an Honours degree in Theology, this Postgraduate Diploma in Theology (with the focus on Religion and Culture) serves as a bridging qualification; but
- If you do hold an appropriate four-year qualification in Theology you can enrol directly for the MPhil without having to complete the Postgraduate Diploma in Theology (with the focus on Religion and Culture) first, or
- Because the degree is presented in co-operation with Humboldt University in Berlin, Germany, a three- or four-year degree from that university or an equivalent qualification from the abovementioned university that complies with the admission requirements will also be accepted.

Closing Date for Applications

- If you are a South African citizen, you must apply before 30 October of the year preceding your studies.
- If you are an international student, you must apply before 30 September of the year preceding your studies.

Duration of Programme

The duration of the programme is at least one year.

Assessment and Examination

To successfully complete this programme, you must do a number of assignments and take tests or examinations orally or in writing. You must also submit a thesis on a relevant research topic.

Programme Structure

The MPhil in Religion and Culture is presented at NQF level 9 and consists of four lectured modules to the value of 80 credits, as well as a thesis to the value of 100 credits that has to be completed on a theme related to Religion and Culture.

6. Master's Degrees in Theology: Collaboration

Presentation

Master's degrees in Theology are presented in collaboration with the Cluster of Theological Institutions in the Western Cape.

- At present, the members of the Cluster are:
 - Department of Religion and Theology, University of the Western Cape;
 - Department of Religious Studies, University of Cape Town;
 - Faculty of Theology, Stellenbosch University and related departments at Stellenbosch University; and
 - Helderberg College in Somerset West.

Closing Date for Applications

- If you are a South African citizen, you must apply before 30 October of the year preceding study.
- If you are an international student, you must apply before 30 September of the year preceding study.

Application Procedure

- Applications to take part in the exchange programme are subject to the approval of the host institutions.
- Get information on the master's degree programmes that are presented within the Cluster of Theological Institutions in the Western Cape from the Faculty administrator of the Faculty of Theology and at the other participating institutions.

Programme Structure

- If you enrol for a structured master's programme you can take certain components or modules of the programme at one or more members of the Cluster of Theological Institutions of the Western Cape.
- You need not register at the guest institutions nor settle financial obligations there in respect of registration or training. You will thus only be registered at Stellenbosch University if you register with the Faculty of Theology and related departments.

Course of Programme

- In terms of the agreement among the abovementioned partners, you who are registered with the Faculty of Theology and related departments of Stellenbosch University may take modules of a structured master's programme presented by any of the other participating institutions. After such modules have been completed successfully, you will be credited by the Faculty of Theology and related departments of Stellenbosch University for modules of the MTh/MPhil programme that have been replaced with modules taken at other institutions.

The following procedures apply:

- You must apply in writing to the Faculty administrator of the Faculty of Theology at least two weeks before the final date for registration.
- You must indicate clearly which module(s) of the Faculty of Theology and related departments of Stellenbosch University you wish to replace and which module(s) presented by other participating institutions you wish to take instead.
- Get information on the number of modules per programme that may be replaced from the institution where you are registered.
- You must register with Stellenbosch University for the components of the structured master's programme that you wish to take at a participating institution.

7. Doctoral Degrees

7.1 PhD

Specific Admission Requirements

Students who wish to register for the PhD programme must:

- be in possession of the MTh degree (thesis option) of this University with a minimum final mark of 60%, on condition that:
 - if you have enrolled for the MTh programme before 1985, you must take a preliminary examination consisting of four papers (written or oral) on the major subject group, one paper (written or oral) on each of the two supplementary subjects, and an oral examination before the Faculty of Theology; and
 - to pass the preliminary examination, you must achieve a final mark of at least 50% in each of the papers in the main subject group and achieve a final mark of at least 50% in each of the two supplementary subjects; or
- be in possession of the MTh degree (structured option) of this University with a minimum final mark of 60% and have obtained a minimum final mark of 70% in the research assignment, and have completed any relevant supplementary work that may be required, on condition that:
 - if you have enrolled for the MTh programme before 1985, you must take a preliminary examination consisting of four papers (written or oral) on the major subject group, one paper (written or oral) on each of the two supplementary subjects, and an oral examination before the Faculty of Theology; and
 - to pass the preliminary examination, you must achieve a final mark of at least 50% in each of the papers in the main subject group and achieve a final mark of at least 50% in each of the two supplementary subjects; or
- be in possession of a MDiv degree of this University with a minimum final mark of 70% and have obtained a minimum final mark of 70% in the research assignment, which usually explores a cognate discipline or area of study, and have completed any relevant supplementary work that may be required as determined by the discipline group; or

- be in possession of a MPhil (Religion and Culture) degree of this University with a minimum final mark of 60%, and have completed any relevant supplementary work in consultation with the discipline group concerned; or
- have achieved a level of competence in your particular field of study in some other way that Senate considers to be adequate for this purpose.
- In addition to the above requirements regarding minimum final marks, students from another university should be in the possession of a full research master's degree or a master's degree with a significant research component.

Supplementary Requirements

In conjunction with the supervisor, the Faculty of Theology can determine any additional requirements that may be necessary for a specific field of study. The following additional requirements for admission to PhD studies have been set by the disciplines Old Testament and New Testament respectively:

- For Old Testament: Biblical Hebrew III, or an equivalent qualification;
- For New Testament: Greek III, or an equivalent qualification;
 - Exceptions may be made with regard to the Biblical Hebrew III or Greek III requirements in cases where the Ancient Languages are not important to the theme of the dissertation;
- Requirements with regard to language skills for international students with English as a second language. See supplementary language requirements under "MTh admission requirements".

Submission of your Research Proposal

- When considering the applications, the disciplinary groups will contact you to get an indication of the specific subdiscipline you want to specialise in.
- On admission you will be allocated a supervisor, according to availability, in order to assist you in preparing a research proposal.
- You can register as student only after the Faculty's Research Committee has approved your research proposal. This process takes a number of months.

Closing Date for Applications

- Admissions of new applications for PhD programmes are considered twice a year, namely in May and October. Therefore, if you have not obtained your preceding qualification at this university, the closing dates for applications are:
 - 1 May; or
 - more preferably 30 October.
- Students will be notified of the results after the selection meetings, after which a research proposal must be prepared in consultation with a promoter. After approval of the proposal by the faculty board and confirmation of admission by Senate, registration for the PhD is possible.
- If you have obtained your preceding qualification at SU, you can apply throughout the year.
- Submit your application to the Registrar and state your area of specialisation.
- Direct queries about the application procedure to the Faculty administrator at shirle@sun.ac.za.

Duration of Programme

- You must be enrolled for the PhD programme for at least two years before you can report for the final examination; and
- A supervisor may, after consultation with the environment concerned, require a minimum period of six months' residence for PhD students from outside Southern Africa.

Programme Description

- As candidate for the PhD degree you must submit, for Senate's approval, a dissertation which:
 - deals with a subject in your main field of study;
 - may only be submitted two years after the MTh degree has been obtained; or
 - after you have achieved a level of competence in the specific field of study in some other way that Senate considers to be adequate for the purpose.
- After registration for the PhD, you will receive a policy document from the relevant discipline group containing clear guidelines on the responsibilities of candidates and their supervisors, regular discussions, progress reports, examination procedures, assessment criteria for dissertations and other regulations of the discipline group.
- You must deliver a report on your research at least once during a postgraduate seminar.
- Discipline groups report annually to the Faculty on the progress of doctoral candidates.
- You must take note of all fees and possible additional levies as specified in Part 3 (Student Fees) of the Yearbook, or you must consult the Student Fees Division.

Assessment and Examination

Completion and submission of your Dissertation

- When you present yourself for examination, you must submit an electronic pdf version of the dissertation through Turnitin and at the administrative officer of the disciplinary group concerned, either before 1 September (for the December graduation ceremony) or before 1 December (for the March graduation ceremony).
- You will be required to orally defend your dissertation to a panel that includes the examiners and academic representatives from the discipline groups and that will determine the outcome of the defence.

Consult Part 1 (General Rules) of the Yearbook for the general regulations for doctoral programmes with regard to examinations and examiners for doctoral dissertations.

- Where applicable and feasible, and taking into account the requirements set by the University, you are encouraged, before reporting for the examination, to submit a manuscript or manuscripts on the results of your research for publication in recognised academic journals.
- For technical guidelines on the appearance, duplication and binding of dissertations, consult Part 1 (General Rules) of the Yearbook.

Subjects, Modules and Module Content for All Undergraduate Programmes

1. Definitions and explanations of important terms

It is important that you take note of the definitions of a few terms in order to understand and use this chapter fully. The example below shows how these terms will appear in this chapter.

Example:

50547 Old and New Testament

114 (16) Introduction to the Old and New Testament (2L 2T)

1.1 Explanation of the abovementioned terms

- Five-digit subject number 50547 Old and New Testament
Each subject is identified by this five-digit subject number.
- Subject name 50547 Old and New Testament
The name of the specific subject is indicated only after the five-digit subject number, before the various modules of the subject offered. Normally the subject name is followed by the module code and the credit value of the specific code, for example in this case: Old and New Testament 114(16)
- Module code 114 (16) Introduction to the Old and New Testament (2L 2T)
The module code consists of a three-digit number that is unique to the specific module. The abovementioned module code "114" has the following meaning:
 - The first digit refers to the year of study in which the module is presented, for example:
Year 1: 114
Year 2: 214
Year 3: 314
 - The second digit "1" refers to the semester that the module will be presented in and also serves as a number to distinguish between various modules of the same subject offered in a specific year of study. The University uses different numbers to indicate the particular semester of a module, either the first or the second semester or modules that are presented in both semesters (which are year modules). The numbers that indicate semesters are as follows:
 - 1, 2 of 3 - modules are presented in the first semester.
Semester 1: 114, 422, 234
 - 4, 5 of 6 - modules are presented in the second semester.
Semester 2: 143, 252, 262
 - 7, 8 of 9 - modules are presented in both semesters, which are year modules.
Year module (both semesters): 478, 288, 391
 - The third digit of the module code 114 serves as a distinguishing digit between various modules of the same subject in a particular year of study.
- Credit value 114 (16) Introduction to the Old and New Testament (2L 2T)
The number in brackets indicates the credit value of the particular module, in this case 16.
- Module subject 114 (16) Introduction to the Old and New Testament (2L 2T)
This indicates the subject that will be dealt with in this specific module.
- Teaching load 114 (16) Introduction to the Old and New Testament (2L 2T)
The teaching load of a module is indicated in the block following the module subject. It gives you both the teaching load and the type of teaching per week that you can expect in this particular module. For the module Old and New Testament 114(16) you can expect two lectures and two tutorials per week for the duration of the module, namely during the first semester. The following abbreviations are used for the teaching load:
 - L – Lectures lasting 50 minutes, for example 1L, 3L
 - P – Practical period lasting 50 minutes, for example 1P, 2P, 3P

- S – Seminar lasting 50 minutes, for example 1S, 2S
- T – Tutorial lasting 50 minutes, for example 1T, 2T

2. Prerequisite pass, prerequisite and corequisite modules

After the description of the content of a module, the prerequisite pass, prerequisite and corequisite modules, if applicable, are given for that module. The following terms are used:

- Prerequisite pass module
 - A prerequisite pass module is a module which you must pass before you can take the module(s) for which it is a prerequisite pass module.
- Prerequisite module
 - A prerequisite module is a module in which you must obtain a final mark of at least 40, before you can take the module for which it is a prerequisite module. If you registered for a prerequisite module while it was examined by the "examination" assessment system, your class mark for it must be 40 for you to meet the prerequisite.
 - If you have once complied with a prerequisite rule, your compliance will remain valid for the period given in the applicable assessment rules, even if you repeat the prerequisite module and do not meet the minimum level when repeating the module.
 - Please note: You must pass all the modules you used as prerequisites in the programme before the relevant degree, certificate or diploma can be awarded to you.
- Corequisite module
 - A corequisite module is a module that you must register for either in an earlier semester than the module for which it is a corequisite, or in the same semester.
 - Please note: You must pass all the modules you used as corequisites in the programme before the relevant degree, certificate or diploma can be awarded to you.

2.1 Condition for the granting of a qualification or degree

The Faculty will only award a qualification if you have passed all the relevant prerequisite and corequisite modules of the specific programme.

3. Assessment of modules

Modules are assessed by means of tests and examination unless otherwise indicated in the module content.

4. Subjects, modules and module contents

Subjects with their accompanying modules, credits, module subjects teaching loads, language specifications and module contents are presented below.

Please consult the appropriate volumes of the SU Yearbook for all other elective modules at other faculties.

13864 Academic Literacy for Theology

112 (12) Foundation for Academic Literacy for Theology (1L, 1T) (BTh ECP; BDiv ECP)

113 (12) Foundation for Academic Literacy for Theology (1L, 1T) (BTh: Part-time)

This module equips students with the basic skills required to function and perform successfully in the higher-education environment. The module introduces students to the higher-education academic environment, processes, and expectations. It focuses on the acquisition of skills and competencies in different academic literacies, including information communication technology, academic reading and writing, referencing systems and techniques, communication, learning styles and approaches, and time management. The module supports the development of personal and social skills and attributes, and the integration of these with the academic environment.

Home department: Practical Theology and Missiology

142 (12) Academic Literacy for Theology (1L, 1T) (BTh ECP)143 (12) Academic Literacy for Theology (1L, 1T) (BTh: Part-time)

This module promotes and develops academic and digital literacy and the appropriate knowledge, skills, and attitudes to become a successful Theology student and competent professional. The academic literacy and skills development component focuses on reading and writing strategies, referencing techniques, and time-management and learning skills. A component on computer literacy will equip students with basic computer skills (including the university's LMS system: SUNLearn, MS Word, PowerPoint, and Mendeley). The module also develops communication and presentation skills, both orally and digitally.

12068 Ecclesiology122 (8) Introduction to Church History (1L, 1T) (BTh ECP)

This module offers a basic introduction to the academic tools needed to study church history as an academic discipline. It is specifically aimed at developing skills in reading, interpreting, and understanding historical timelines and geographical details in the context of church-historical shifts. It presents a timeline of the most important events in the history of Christianity and the growth of Christianity in the first thousand years CE, geographically locating and culturally contextualising these events. It also discusses different Christian traditions, and why the study of history is important.

143 (8) Church History 1: From Early Christianity to the Late Middle Ages (1L, 1T)153 (8) Church History 1: From Early Christianity to the Late Middle Ages (1L, 1T) (BTh: Part-time)

In this module students examine the history of the church and theology from the early church to the High Middle Ages. Students explore key figures, doctrines, and thought movements from this period, analysing their historical significance and relevance for contemporary church and society. The module prepares students to critically engage with the past as being essential for addressing present-day challenges in theology and religious practice.

253 (8) Denominational History, Polity, Theology and Practice (1L, 1T)

This module provides an ecumenical introduction to the scope and main themes of church polity, focusing on denomination-specific history, polity, and practice. Students will study denominational sources (such as theologies, histories, polities, and liturgies) to gain a critical understanding of the identities and practices of denominations. The module, therefore, also explores the relationship between ecumenism and church polity.

352 (8) South African Church History in Global Perspective (1L, 1T)353 (8) South African Church History in Global Perspective (1L, 1T) (BTh: Part-time)

This module focusses on the religious and theological history of Christianity in South Africa from the 17th century until the late 20th century. It explores South African Christianity in the context of various eras with reference to contemporary relevance. Students will study important figures, events, and streams of thought from this period, and relevant themes from the history of theology, of missionary work, and of spirituality, investigating their church-historical significance for our current context. The underlying assumption of this module is that critical engagement with the past is essential for dealing with the challenges facing the church and society today.

This module considers primarily how biographical studies could enhance church-historical research and teaching. It approaches biography as a historiographical method and identifies both the problems and the challenges of biography and historiography. Different approaches to biography as an academic genre or method are juxtaposed. This module also highlights important figures and currents from Christian history that are not covered in detail in the earlier years of study.

142 (8) Introduction to the Theory and History of Mission (1L, 1T)

143 (8) Introduction to the Theory and History of Mission (1L, 1T) (BTh: Part-time)

This module aims to equip students with a comprehensive understanding of fundamental missiological concepts and theories, while they also appreciate missiology as an ecumenical and cross-cultural discipline that engages in dialogue with other religions. It provides a comprehensive overview of the theories, methods, and history of global witness and service. The focus is on the biblical, theological, and socio-historical aspects of cross-cultural, intercultural, and other praxis-based dimensions of Christianity worldwide. This exploration includes an examination of missionary movements from the 19th to the 21st century and the development of missionary congregations since the 1980s.

In this module, students will develop a solid grasp of basic missiological concepts and theories and foster an understanding of the evolution of missiological thought over time. The module emphasises the multi-disciplinary nature of missiological studies, encouraging students to appreciate the diverse perspectives and methodologies involved. Additionally, it seeks to contextualise modern South African and African contexts within the broader framework of missiological developments that originated in Europe. By doing so, it highlights the importance of missiology as an ecumenical discipline that engages in dialogue with other religions and as a cross-cultural discipline that transcends geographical and cultural boundaries.

243 (16) African Religions and Ecumenism (2L, 1P) (BTh: Part-time)

244 (16) African Religions and Ecumenism (2L, 1P)

The module employs a storytelling methodology and a praxis cycle approach to explore the relationship between intercultural and interfaith interactions and responses to diversity by adherents or members of three religions (interreligious ecumenism in Africa) and of different Christian denominations (intrareligious ecumenism in Africa). It also explores the implications this relationship has for the formation and transformation of persons, systems, and structures through religious, spiritual, and social service, dialogue, and witness in the contexts and texts of the religions. The module offers leadership skills for practising inclusivity and hospitality (ubuntu) through relationships, activities, and projects for the common good, and for social and structural transformation of communities, movements, organisations, and institutions in African contexts.

113 (8) Theological Foundations for Youth Work (2L, 1T)

133 (8) Theological Foundations for Youth Work (2L, 1T) (BTh: Part-time)

In this module students will learn to identify the theological foundations of youth work practice and the implications of a theological framework for youth ministry practice. The module focuses on the importance of different perspectives on a theological grounding for youth work, also identifying the elements that inform a theological framework for youth work. The theological frameworks that are discussed include how we view youth from a theological perspective and not only from a social-science perspective, such as a psychological perspective. Youth development is therefore not only viewed as a biological or physical process but also as a spiritual process where questions like Who am I? and Where do I fit? also refer to who created us and to our calling here on earth. The concept "youth" is critically engaged with and not merely viewed as a developmental phase. Rather, from a human dignity perspective, youth are seen as fully human and able to act as agents of change. It is also explained why and how youth can serve as a hermeneutical key in ministry that could assist us in understanding the current culture and creating a more contextual ministry.

215 (8) Introduction to Pastoral Counselling (1L, 1P) (BTh: Part-time)222 (8) Introduction to Pastoral Counselling (1L, 1P)

The module explores the theological foundational theory of pastoral care and counselling. Various pastoral metaphors are studied to understand the theological nature of care, solace, and support. The module explores the relationship between pastoral theology and anthropology, and the influence of this relationship on a discussion model for pastoral ministry. The goal is to develop students' basic communication skills for pastoral care and counselling, and to develop sensitivity to the issue of interculturalism in cross-cultural communication. Through practical sessions students develop communication and counselling skills for pastoral care in different contexts.

243 (8) Theology and Development (1L, 1T)253 (8) Theology and Development (1L, 1T) (BTh: Part-time)

This module focuses on poverty and inequality in South Africa, Africa, and globally on macro and grassroots levels, offering theological perspectives on development and the history of faith communities in addressing these issues. The module aims to deepen theological reflection on attempts at social transformation in concrete local development situations, exploring how biblical norms and perspectives could influence the character of development work. It equips students with the analytical tools and theoretical frameworks for critical reflection on the process of development and the role of faith communities in responding to development processes and issues, including "hot button" development issues (locally, continentally, and globally).

254 (16) Youth Related Pastoral Care (2L, 1P)

The module examines the contemporary issues facing South African youth in the context of community and society, such as teenage sexuality and HIV/AIDS, eating disorders, depression, gangsterism, substance abuse, violence, and suicide. It focuses on the spiritual formation of youth facing these issues. Students will learn to apply the principles of pastoral care in this context, including the ability to identify various approaches/possibilities of counselling and relationship building when working with youth. They will understand the connection between life care and spiritual care, healing, and counselling, learn to apply the principles of pastoral care to community care, and develop a systems approach to life problems and the notion of power.

262 (8) Ministry Practice (1L, 1P)

In this module students develop an integrated practical-theological ecclesiology with a view to ministry in Christian faith communities. Students will develop their basic ministry skills for Christian leadership in faith communities. The module explores theological foundational theory: What is the ministry and what are the skills required of the ministry leadership? This includes contextual analysis (the role and importance of a cultural hermeneutics), the role of Scripture and tradition (dealing with Scripture, discipleship, and religious discernment), ministry practices (liturgy, preaching, instruction, pastoral care, and service), and the role of leadership and processes (relationships, conflict, processes, and leadership).

314 (16) Homiletics and Liturgy (2L, 1T)

This module introduces the theory of communication, particularly homiletic and conversational skills. This includes the theology of the worship from a historical perspective, the basic principles of liturgy and the development of worship, preaching as contemporary proclamation of the Word of God, and the process of composing a sermon. Students will learn to understand the role of a meaningful liturgy and preaching in the formation of faith communities, the important aspects of contemporary liturgy formation and development in a congregational context, and the dynamics of composing and delivering a sermon as a hermeneutic process within the dialogue between Word and situation. Practical aspects include designing theologically justified public worship services, and developing homiletic communication techniques.

Research and Service Bodies

1. Beyers Naudé Centre for Public Theology

Description

The Centre is a research and service institution of Stellenbosch University which is based in the Systematic Theology and Ecclesiology discipline group and reports to the Faculty Board. The Centre is virtually entirely dependent on so-called third channel funding.

Aims

The Beyers Naudé Centre for Public Theology aims to:

- Advance understanding of the role, task and responsibility of Theology in the public arena through research, teaching and community interaction.
- Undertake research in co-operation with local and international experts into aspects of Public Theology.
 - Current research topics include human rights, human dignity in the context of globalisation, moral transformation, religion and identity, peace and justice, Christianity and civil society.
- Publicise the results of research by means of national and international publications and through the presentation of conferences, symposia, public lectures and workshops.
- Assist in the generation of contributions to publications which have a specific relevance to the Faculty of Theology.
- Perform research and provide advice on a contractual basis.
- Promote co-operation between the Faculty of Theology and the broader church communities, the ecumenical movements, national and international research and service institutions, and the public and private sector.
- Provide training in the form of short courses, seminars and similar initiatives.

2. Ekklesia

Description

Ekklesia functions as a bureau of the Faculty of Theology. The running costs are met by the Curatorium (the governing body) of the Dutch Reformed Church in South Africa, which, in turn, depends on donations from benevolent organisations and from members of its congregations.

Aims

The objectives of Ekklesia are to:

- Conduct ongoing research on:
 - the task and ministry of the church and the demands it faces in respect of the theological training of students and the continued theological training of ministers;
 - curriculum development in order to ensure that the continued training of ministers is effective.
- Facilitate postgraduate research projects with a ministry focus within the Faculty of Theology and to collaborate with other national and international research programmes.
- Create, with a view to continued theological training,
 - the necessary facilities and motivate ministers to continue studying after completion of their formal theological training; and
 - present regular courses for ministers and others involved in church ministry.

3. Unit for Religion and Development Research (URDR)

Description

Since early 2002, the Unit has been an independent entity within the structure of the Practical Theology and Missiology discipline group in the Faculty of Theology.

Aims

The Unit for Religion and Development Research empowers religious communities for sustainable development through research, theory formulation and training. The unit aims to:

- Perform primary and secondary religio-demographic research in relation to the developmental profile and requirements of local communities.
- Develop applicable theory formulation that is relevant to:
 - the interpretation of the religio-demographic research; and
 - the mobilisation of religious communities towards sustainable community development.
- Make available to postgraduate students (master's and doctoral) a training facility and research venue in the field of Theology and Development and other disciplines in the social sciences.
- Provide professional research and training services to communities.
- Communicate research results through scientific and popular publications.
